

WHITTEN'S SIDE OF IT

He Said He Fired His Rifle Only When Butler Snapped His Revolver.

THE DAY IN BUSY MISSOULA

Verdict on the Death of Mrs. McCue—What People are Saying of the Aldermen—Some of the Armours in Town.

Special to the Standard.

MISSOULA, July 30.—Sheriff Houston came in from Demersville to-night with Thomas Whitten and James McQuillen in custody. Both have been bound over for the grand jury, Whitten for killing Butler and McQuillen for burglary. Whitten was seen at the jail to-night and made the following statement:

"Butler had understood that another man and I were going to prosecute him for running a brace faro game. I heard through his wife that he said he was going to kill me, and I went to him and asked him if he had said so. He said he had not, and when we parted I supposed everything was all right. I went home and told my wife what he had said and then went to my barber shop and got a rifle. I had there all summer and started for the river bank to do some shooting, as I quite frequently did until supper should be ready. As I went past the back door of the saloon I looked through and could not see Butler. He was drunk at the time. I turned to go into the back door and pass through the saloon. As I entered it Butler, who was in a corner at my right hand, aimed a revolver at me and snapped it. I turned and fired in his direction without taking time to aim and he fell. I did not know whether he was dead or not and did not wait to see."

When asked if there was a woman in the case, Whitten said that there was not, both he and Butler being married men. Whitten, who is a half breed, went from the Cour d'Alenes to Demersville about seven or eight months ago.

THE PEOPLE GETTING TIRED.

Disgust Generally Expressed at the Inaction of the City Council.

Special to the Standard.

MISSOULA, July 30.—A council meeting was called for last night, and as usual no quorum was present. The mayor and four aldermen were present, two were out of the city, one was sick and one was not around. The farce is getting tiresome and people are getting decidedly disgusted. When the bridge question was stirred up and knocked in the head for the present it was stated on good authority that the aldermen would take the matter up soon and do whatever was possible to secure a bridge at an early day. This has not been done. The council met once and did some good work on the sewer proposition, but call after call has been issued for a meeting when it was understood the bridge question would be taken up, and enough were always absent to prevent a quorum. The people were divided in opinion concerning the former action of the aldermen, but they are rapidly becoming united in disgust at their present course.

Some of them have tied matters up so that nothing can be done. They do not act nor do they get out of the way so that somebody else can act. If they are afraid of the question, as many people are not backward in saying that they are, the least that could be expected is that they would resign and let somebody tackle it who is not afraid. If they propose to do anything, the citizens would be pleased to see them do it before the robins nest again.

FOR PLEASURE ONLY.

A Party of Armourers Pass Through Town on Their Way to the Park.

Special to the Standard.

MISSOULA, July 30.—Attached to train No. 2 to-night were the Pullman cars "Wildwood" and the San Antonio & Arkansas Pass car, "Tecalco." The Wildwood is carrying a party consisting of Messrs. H. O. Armour of New York, and A. W. Armour of Kansas City and their families. H. O. Armour said to the STANDARD reporter: "We are just out for fun and nothing else. We are not going to start any packing houses nor do any other business, but are merely on a pleasure trip."

The party has been out six weeks, two of which were passed on the Sound and are now on their way to the National park.

WHILE TEMPORARILY INSANE.

Verdict of the Coroner's Jury in the Case of Mrs. McCue.

Special to the Standard.

MISSOULA, July 30.—The inquest on the remains of Mrs. McCue was continued this morning, Albert Wilson having sobered up enough to enable him to testify. His testimony was of no value, however, and the jury, relying on what they had learned last night, brought in a verdict stating that she died of an overdose of chloral hydrate administered by her own hand while she was suffering from temporary insanity.

Como Lake for a Pleasure Resort.

Special to the Standard.

MISSOULA, July 30.—Hon. W. B. Harlan of Como was in the city yesterday and called at the land office. He told Receiver Catlin that he had petitioned to have the land about Como lake set aside as a reservation to be used as a pleasure resort. Major Catlin considers it an excellent idea. He says that Como lake is beautifully situated, is of unknown depth and full of fish, and as there is no underbrush around it it is a beautiful place for camping, picnicking and the like. If the land about it were taken up it would be only for the timber, and that once cut off, the place will be spoiled for other purposes. Como lake is about 12 miles above Grantsdale and quite easily accessible, and he thinks it should be spared from the ax.

BROTHERS BURNED AWAY.

ABINGDON, Va., July 30.—The trial of Dr. John A. P. Baker for the murder of his wife by poison began here today. Mrs. W. R. Gilmer was the first witness. She told how she first met Baker as her family physician, told of their criminal intimacy, his declarations of love to her, plans for poisoning her husband and the like. When asked if Baker ever made threats concerning taking of his wife's life, she said he told her "every warrior shall be burned away."

FOR HEALTH AND PLEASURE.

Boulder Hot Springs and How Guests Enjoy Themselves.

BOULDER HOT SPRINGS, July 30.—Although the days of man may not be replete with pleasure, the visitor to the Hotel May just at this time, when the sun's hot rays tends to make mortals uncomfortable, finds as joy in an assemblage of pleasure seekers as could be desired to lighten the heart and make happy the most dismal mortal. Boulder Hot Springs for years past have been noted for their curative properties, and have been, to a degree, popular with the residents of the cities and towns of Montana, but this is the first season that the place has been recognized as a fashionable resort.

Notwithstanding the fact that the reputation of the medicinal properties of the springs have been well known, up to the completion of the Hotel May there were no suitable accommodations for those who would visit the place for either health or pleasure. For years a shabby, cheaply constructed building was made to serve as a hotel, and the baths—if such they could be called—were never in a condition which would justify a cleanly person in entering them. Of course, they were patronized by health-seekers, but few ever thought of remaining at the resort for the pleasure it afforded. But things have changed. The past year an enterprising man, C. W. Kerriek of Minneapolis, fully realizing the value of the springs, in a medical sense, and with the keenness of a thorough business man seeing how a good investment could be made, leased the property for a term of five years from A. C. Quantance and immediately set about the construction of an hotel which would be fully adequate in all particulars to the needs of the people of Montana and other states who desire to take advantage of the benefits the wonderful waters from the "bowels of the earth" hold for physically afflicted creatures. The building was completed early in May and on the 10th of June was thrown open to the public, and is now under the management of George W. Beckwith, lately of Deer Lodge. It is a wooden structure, three-story, fitted with all modern improvements, with accommodations for about 100 guests. A large plunge bath has been constructed besides a large number of private baths, and the different springs walled in and arranged in a neat manner. In connection with the house is a large hall which is used for dancing, concerts and other entertainments. Guests have the use of the baths and hall free.

At present the hotel is nearly filled with guests. Immediately after luncheon, when the plunge for a few hours is reserved for ladies, about the hotel you can hear such expressions as "O, I hate to get my hair wet," "I was on that trapeze so much yesterday that I am tired all over," "We stayed in the water two hours yesterday," and many other such woman-folk remarks. Pleasant drives and walks are plentiful and the lover of angling can find a clear stream well filled with trout within a mile of the hotel. An orchestra of four pieces each evening at the hall furnish excellent music, and devotees of the turn-of-the-century can enjoy themselves to their heart's content. Unmarried people seem to be very scarce. Out of the half hundred ladies at the hotel only four are single, and the number of single young men is proportionately small.

Among the ladies who are staying here are: Mrs. George Haldorn, Mrs. John Kuhnweiler, Mrs. Russell, Mrs. Stodden, Mrs. J. Maslin and the Misses Clarke and Misses Nugent and Mrs. and Miss F. L. Perkins; Mrs. C. E. Stanford, Mrs. J. L. Perkins; Mrs. W. G. Gooding, Mrs. J. Weims; Mrs. Kelly, Mrs. Phelps, Mrs. J. Singler, Mrs. H. H. Hynes, Mrs. J. Heller, Mrs. S. J. Jones and Mrs. M. A. Walker of Helena; Mrs. Taylor and Mrs. Searies of Great Falls, and Mrs. Woodman of Chicago.

INDISCREET MR. OLIVER. He is Arrested For Sending Obscene Matter to the Mormons.

BUTTE, July 30.—This evening United States Marshal Furay arrested Richard Oliver for sending obscene matter through the United States mails. Oliver is a tailor residing in Copper street, and on March 23 of this year sent a postal card directed to "the Destroying Angel," Salt Lake, Utah. The card, which was intended should fall into the hands of some Mormon bishop, contained the most filthy and obscene language imaginable and was sent to Washington by the Salt Lake postmaster. In turn it was forwarded to Mr. Watkins, postoffice inspector at Helena, who filed information against Oliver and a warrant was issued for his arrest. Oliver is a Mormon and claims that some of the bishops have wronged him and his wife and for that reason sent the postal card referred to. He will be arraigned for examination tomorrow evening before the United States commissioner.

LIFTED THE BOYCOTT.

The Grand Trunk Squares Itself With the Chicago & Alton.

CHICAGO, July 30.—The Chicago & Grand Trunk railway of Canada to-day lifted the boycott against the Chicago & Alton road. This is believed by some to be the beginning of the end. The success of the Alton in securing the Grand Army business for itself, and the Wabash road brought about this result. It is said that in many parts of the West ticket agents have banded themselves into a sort of secret society for the purpose of fighting the enemies and favoring the friends of the Alton. The prediction is made that not a few of the eastern lines will promptly accept the opportunity afforded by the Grand Trunk to abrogate their agreement.

MR. LITTLEJOHN'S ROOSTER.

He Offers to Bet $500 I Can Whip Any of the Regans Can Trot Out.

BUTTE, July 30.—Thomas Littlejohn is of the opinion that he is the possessor of a game cock that can whip anything having feathers that may belong to the Reagan brothers, who reside on the hill. Acting on this opinion he called at the STANDARD office to-day and posted a forfeit of $25 to back a challenge to the Regans for a single battle for $50 a side, the fight to take place at any place and on any date the challenged parties may designate. Littlejohn's only stipulation is that birds must weigh either five and a half or six pounds.

Bottles and Hatchets.

ELIZABETH, N. J., July 30.—William McAdams will probably die of terrible injuries inflicted by the lightweight fighter, James Liddy, and two others. Liddy married McAdams' sister and abused her. McAdams to-night called Liddy to account in the saloon of the latter. Bottles and hatchets were used on McAdams' head with sickening results.

TIED TO A WASHBOILER.

A Hucking Broncho Bucks in a Way to Behold.

BUTTE, July 30.—A bay cayuse and a large tin washboiler created excitement and havoc in Park street this afternoon. The broncho was under saddle and had been tied to the boiler in front of a store in East Park street while the rider went inside. One of the steam motors came puffing up the street and frightened the broncho, which, true to its nature, began to buck and kick and then started on a run toward Missoula gulch. The boiler was still attached to the hitching strap and swayed and swung like a shirt on a clothes line. At the corner of Main the wild and unfed buckler left the street and ran onto the sidewalk, causing a crowd standing there to scatter in a hurry. One man was so nearly run down by the horse that after it had passed several persons who witnessed his escape rushed up to him, expecting to find him badly injured if not killed. After following the sidewalk for a short distance the horse took to the street again and coiled with a butcher wagon and frightened the horses, which also started off on a wild run. They ran into Missoula gulch, where the wagon upset and the horses piled up in a heap. Both horses were found to be badly injured and the wagon was almost a total wreck. The broncho was caught further on a soon as the owner of the saddle horse could be found he was arrested by Officers Carroll and Cantwell and taken before the police court. He gave his name as H. Nash and pleaded guilty to a charge of improperly tying his horse, and was fined $5 and costs. A spectator in the court suggested that it would have been more proper to have taken Nash before the district court to have his sanity made the subject of a legal investigation, because not only but an insane person would tie a broncho to a washboiler instead of a hitching post.

MISS FUCHS' $1,000 VIOLIN.

Fiddler Ganke Borrowed It and is Said to Have Shipped to Spokane.

BUTTE, July 30.—The rotund figure of William H. Ganke, the drollish fiddler who erstwhile furnished quantities of doubtful music at various concert halls in East Park street, is missing. The absence of William H. is not mourned by anybody except Professor Fuchs, the cornetist, and his daughter, Miss Ludivica. In addition to playing the cornet the professor also does work in the line of repairing musical instruments. A few days ago, Ganke took his violin to the professor to have it repaired and was given another instrument to use in the meantime. After trying the violin for a night, Ganke took it back and said that he could not use it, claiming that it was an inferior instrument. He was told that the only other instrument in the house was a violin belonging to Miss Fuchs, and on account of its great age and excellent qualities it was valued at $1,000. Ganke begged to be allowed to use the violin until his own was repaired and he promised to take the greatest possible care of the treasure if entrusted to him. So well did he plead that he obtained the violin. This evening the professor, who is so badly crippled with rheumatism that he is unable to leave the house, learned that Ganke had left for Spokane yesterday and had taken the borrowed violin along. Miss Fuchs then appealed to the sheriff and also to one of the justices to have the absconding fiddler arrested, but both refused to take any action unless the costs were paid in advance. As Professor Fuchs is in rather straitened circumstances, owing to continued illness and loss of time, the costs could not be paid and the young lady was compelled to return home, crying bitterly at the loss she had sustained.

INGERSOLL'S LECTURE.

The Montana Union Will Sell Tickets at Reduced Rates.

BUTTE, July 30.—Col. R. G. Ingersoll has accepted the invitation extended by the William Tell club to deliver the address on the occasion of the celebration of the 60th anniversary of the independence of Switzerland next Sunday at the Columbia gardens. The subject is one that no one but an orator can do justice to and the citizens of Butte are to be congratulated on having this opportunity of hearing the most brilliant speaker of modern times. Invitations have been extended to the citizens of the neighboring cities to participate in the celebration and it is expected that a great many persons from Deer Lodge, Anaconda and other points in the Deer Lodge valley will take this opportunity to hear the great orator. The speaking will not begin until 2:30 p. m., so the portion coming from Deer Lodge and Garrison will have plenty of time to get dinner and reach the grounds after the arrival of the noon trains.

Mr. Calderhead of the Montana Union has kindly consented to extend the limits of the midday excursion tickets to return on the late train that night or the next day.
